

Content

Preface.....	V
Part I: Prospects for Understanding International Marketing Challenges.....	1
1. Developments and Trends in International Marketing	5
1.1. The Historical Evolution of International Marketing	5
1.2. The 21 st Century Approach – The New Trends and the New Global Focus	12
2. Policy Making and International Marketing	17
2.1. Historical Evolution of Frameworks: from GATT to WTO and Regional Trade Blocks	17
2.1.1. GATT and WTO as Paths to International Developments in Trade	17
2.1.2. Important Regional Developments throughout the World	20
2.1.2.1. Regional Developments in Europe	20
2.1.2.2. Regional Developments in North and South America	21
2.1.2.3. Regional Developments in Asia	23
2.1.2.4. Regional Developments in the Pacific	24
2.2. The Freedom of Trade within the 21 st Century Approach	26
2.3. The Challenge of the Regulatory Environment	30
2.4. The New Policy Making Trends and Marketing Operations	36
3. Economic Liberalization and Emergence of New Market Structures	45
3.1. Newly Industrializing Countries NICs as Emerging Markets EMs	45
3.2. Developed Economies of the World as Advanced Markets (AMs)	49
3.3. The Effects of the Economic Turbulence of the Early 21 st Century on International Marketing	51
3.3.1. The Shrinking Markets in Developed Economies	51
3.3.2. The Struggle of EMs with the Crisis Economies	54
4. Culture and Business Negotiations	59
4.1. The Effects of Culture in Building Contacts	62
4.2. The Effects of Culture on Developing Marketing Strategies and Operations	64
4.2.1. The Elements of Culture Affecting International Marketing Operations	65
4.2.2. Cultural Dimension Models for International Strategies	75
4.2.3. Visible and Invisible Parts of Culture and Cultural Change ..	82
Part II: The Choice for the Right Market und Market Entry.....	97
5. Research and Analysis in International Environments	98
5.1. Categorization of Information Needs and International Marketing Research	99
5.2. The International Marketing Research Process	106

5.3.	Classical Tools and Research Methods used	109
5.3.1.	Secondary Market Research	109
5.3.1.1.	Sources of Secondary Data	110
5.3.1.2.	Analytical Methods for Qualitative Secondary Data	114
5.3.1.3.	Analytical Methods for Quantitative Secondary Data	117
5.3.2.	Primary Market Research	118
5.4.	Research Trends and Tools of the 21 st Century	126
5.5.	Ethics in Conducting Research	128
6.	Strategy and Market Entry	130
6.1.	Assessing and Selecting New Markets	131
6.2.	Factors Influencing the Entry Mode	133
6.3.	Different Types of Market Entry Modes Utilized for International Operations	138
6.3.1.	From Domestic Production to Export Abroad	140
6.3.2.	From Domestic Production to Production Abroad	148
6.4.	Market Entry Modes Revisited	156
Part III: Operational Focus on Markets Abroad		167
7.	Reach of Markets beyond Borders	168
7.1.	Classical Distribution Networks in International Markets	169
7.1.1.	Role of Distributors for International Operations	169
7.1.2.	Role of the Market Entry Method based Arrangements in Distribution	171
7.1.3.	Distribution Decision Aspects, Channel Structure, Design, Density and Management	177
7.2.	New Approaches for International Distribution in the 21 st Century	186
7.2.1.	Regional Trends in International Retailing	186
7.2.2.	Trends in Transportation	189
7.2.3.	Internet Usage and the Challenge of the World-Wide-Web in Reshaping Shopping	190
7.2.4.	Future Intelligent Store Technologies	196
8.	From Product to Brand, from Brand to Service	198
8.1.	Product Related Issues and Options in International Marketing	199
8.1.1.	Standardization and Adaptation Focus	199
8.1.2.	Different Perspectives for International Branding	202
8.1.3.	Ingredients of Branding: Packaging and Labeling	215
8.2.	Evolutionary Approaches in Product Design, Development, and Management	220
8.2.1.	The Variety for Emerging Markets – Disruptive Innovation Technology	220
8.2.2.	International Product Life Cycle, Life Cycle Management and Innovation	224
8.2.3.	Importance of Service Dominant Logic, Customer’s Advisory and Open Innovation	237

8.3. Challenges of New Technology Links and Service Links in International Markets	241
9. The Approaches for Pricing in Different Market Structures	244
9.1. Challenges for Price Setting in International Market Environments	244
9.2. The Fundamental Approaches to International Pricing Strategies	247
9.3. International Price Coordination: Parallel Imports, Price Corridors and Price Control	253
9.4. Price Quotations and Terms of Trade	257
9.5. The Changing Strategic Focus of Pricing via Use of the Internet	259
10. Communication Mix and Customer-Seller Links	262
10.1. Categories of International Promotion	262
10.1.1. International Advertising	263
10.1.2. International Sales Promotion – Trade Shows	269
10.1.3. Personal Selling Efforts at International Level	270
10.1.4. Public Relations in World Markets	271
10.2. Global Strategic Focus for Promotion with Barrier Free Communication	271
10.2.1. Standardization, Heterogeneity and Adaptation Focus	271
10.2.2. Barriers to International Communication and Message Transmission	274
10.3. The 21 st Century Trends in Shopping and Marketing Communication Mix	289
Index.....	311